INTRODUCTION

At present, in Italy the University Sector is made up of 89 University Institutions which are classified in:

- 58 State universities
- 17 non-State universities (legally recognized by the State)
- 2 universities for foreigners
- 6 higher schools specialized in postgraduate university studies
- 6 telematic universities

According to the Ministerial Decree 270/2004, which rules the latest reform of the University system, State Universities issue, at the end of each relevant study course, the following titles:

- Laurea (L) [1st cycle degree]; 3 years; 180 credits
- Laurea Magistrale (LM) [2nd cycle degree]; 2 years, 120 credits
- Diploma di Specializzazione (DS, Specialization Degree)
- Dottorato di Ricerca (DR, Research Doctorate); minimum 3 years
- Master di primo e secondo livello (1st and 2nd level University Masters)

Credits (one credit is usually the equivalent of 25 hours of study) indicate the workload required for a student with adequate initial preparation to acquire the knowledge and skills envisaged by the course syllabus. These hours include both classroom activities (lectures, practice, seminars), individual study and other training activities like internships etc. The average yearly workload required for a full-time student has been set to 60 credits. Credits are earned by passing the final examination or by successfully completing other forms of assessment. They do not replace grades. The maximum final university degree grade is 110/110. Exceptional students may be awarded a degree grade of 110/110 cum laude. Classes may be held in semesters or annually, depending on the Faculties: 1st semester from mid/last week of September to the end of February; 2nd semester from mid/last week of February to the end of July. Lectures usually finish before the end of the term to provide students with time for the exam period. Exams are held on different dates during the academic year. All lectures and exams are held in Italian.

The University of Bari, one the 58 State universities, was founded in 1925 and is attended today by about 60.000 students, across the Bari, Brindisi, and Taranto campuses and offers 126 degree programs (Bachelor's and Doctoral degrees).
