Assessment
Assessment methods	The exam is oral. Usually, the exam consists of three questions. For each of the required topics, the knowledge of the institutes and positive law, the ability to reconstruct the different opposing theses and the evolution of the system, as well as the ability to correlate the institutes, are evaluated. In all cases, the ability to analyze and synthesize, the clarity of presentation and the ownership of technical-legal language are also evaluated.

Assessment criteria	The evaluation of learning provides for the attribution of a final grade expressed in thirtieths. Each of the three questions of which the exam is composed has equal weight with respect to the final grade
Final exam and grading criteria	The evaluation criteria and scores are as follows: less than 18/30: insufficient level of competence; 18-20/30: level of competence just sufficient (the candidate reaches an elementary knowledge of the learning outcomes foreseen in the point "knowledge and understanding", and in particular those relating to the notions on administrative law, procedure, provision, organization); 21-23/30: fully sufficient level of competence; 24-26/30: good proficiency level; 27-29/30: very good level of competence; 30-30 laude: excellent level of competence (the candidate fully achieves all the expected learning outcomes demonstrating an excellent level also compared to those related to "autonomy of judgment" and "communication skills"). To achieve a high evaluation, the student must have developed autonomy of judgment and adequate capacity for argumentation and exposition.
Further information Disability and ASD	Students who have registered for the disability certification or ASD certification at the Inclusion and Right to Study Office can ask to use concept maps (by keywords) during the exam. To this end, it is necessary to send the maps, two weeks before the exam session, to the teacher of the course, who will verify their consistency with the indications of the university guidelines and may request their modification.
