General Information
Academic subject	Information and fake news analysis
Degree course	Corso di Laurea in Scienze della comunicazione pubblica, sociale e d'impresa
Curriculum
ECTS credits
Compulsory attendance	YES
Language	Italian

Subject teacher	Name Surname	Mail address	SSD
	Claudia Attimonelli Petraglione	claudia.attimonelli@uniba.it	L-Art06

ECTS credits details
Basic teaching activities	10C/1	L-Art06	3

Class schedule
Period	II Semester 2020-2021
Year	II
Type of class	Laboratory

Time management
Hours measured	1 h = 60 minutes
In-class study hours	20
Out-of-class study hours	55

Academic calendar
Class begins
Class ends

Syllabus
Prerequisite requirements
Expected learning outcomes (according to Dublin Descriptors)	Knowledge and understanding among contemporary languages and praxis of old and new media. - Applying knowledge and understanding the analysis of information, sources, hoax, fake news. - Making informed judgements and choices concerning primary and secondary literature, images and pictures spread online. - Communicating knowledge and understanding due to facultative short oral expositions and/or posters to the class, along with participative frontal lectures. - Capacities to continue learning communication strategy among the new editorial systems.
Contents	Laboratory is based on the analysis of the most contemporary forms connected to information and visual culture, it aims to let the students able in decipher and distinguish a news form a fake information or a sensationalist one. A particular attention will be focused on the notion of quotation at the time of web 3.0.
Course program
Bibliography	- C. Attimonelli, V. Susca, Un oscuro riflettere. Black Mirror e l'aurora digitale, Mimesis, Milano 2020. Other material edited by the teacher.
Notes
Teaching methods	Workshop; focus group; brain storming.
Assessment methods	Written test.
Further information	